Greek base station communications

Overview

The site is allegedly located where underwater electromagnetic waves connect the communications naval base in Nea Makri with Norfolk, Virginia, close to Langley, where the CIA headquarters is located, according to investigators of unexplained phenomena. Adding to the intrigue, an ancient Egyptian temple located right next to the base has only deepened suspicions about. The remains of a military communications outpost still stand on this Greek island. It was built in 1965 by the United States, and everything about it gives you Cold War vibes. Once a guarded military outpost watching the skies, now only visited by tourists because of the spectacular view of the island. The NATO Base Camp near the U.
