Solar panel power generation investment scam

Overview

These scams start with an unexpected phone call, message on social, or even an in-person visit. Or they might try to sign you up for a “free” program to make your home more energy efficient with. While reputable companies can help you save money with clean or solar energy improvements, scammers offer more than they can deliver. While there are still many honest and reliable solar panel companies on the market, it can be hard to differentiate the good guys from the rest. They typically use the same handful of tricks over and over—which means once you know what to look for, they're easy to spot. Recently, the FTC also issued an alert to warn consumers about solar power scams, such as free solar panels.
